KARL DESERTED HELD PRISONER

Hungarian Regent Sends Force to Expel Former Emperor

SPAIN TO PROTECT HIM

Powerful Royalist Influences Were Back of Abortive Attempt—Supporters Arrested

Budapest, March 31.—Count Stefan Bethlen, as the plenipotentiary of Regent Horthy, has been sent to Steinamanger, the West Hungarian town where former Emperor Karl has taken refuge after his vain attempt to regain the throne. Premier Teleky and Count Julius Andrassy, former Foreign Minister and friend of the former ruler, accompanied Count Bethlen to endeavor to persuade Karl to leave Hungary immediately.

Count Bethlen has a strong force of troops at his disposal and is authorized to suppress any monarchist uprising should any occur.

Karl is under strict military supervision in Steinamanger. He has been deserted by his stanchest supporters and is not permitted to leave his room in Steinamanger castle to see his friends. The former Emperor informed the Government today that he was preparing for removal to some neutral country, probably to Spain. The Spanish representative, Count Reale de Guarcia, told Regent Horthy today that Karl was under Spanish protection and that the Spanish Government was offering its hospitality to the former ruler.

Bishop Count Mikes, who, with many representatives of the Hungarian aristocracy was at Steinamanger with the former Emperor, has been arrested charged with being the head of the movement to restore Karl to the throne. General Lehar, in command at Steinamanger, who was suspected of backing the former monarch with the West Hungarian Army, asserted today he was loyally supporting Regent Horthy against the plotters.

General Belitska, the War Minister declared:

"The former King is not supported by the troops. The army, as one man, is standing behind Regent Horthy. Charles is a prisoner, rather than a guest at Steinamanger."

SPRING GARDENING AND PLANTING

Property owners of Rosemont and North Rosemont are at present busily engaged in solving the spring gardening and planting problems and not the least of these is the proposition of caring for the beautiful pine oaks and maples planting along the streets. Some years ago Robert H. Forman, arbo'd tree expert, had charge of these trees giving them yearly attention but since the suburb has come within the corporate limits of Alexandria there has been no way in which the work may be carried on without this sanction of each individual.

Many complaints have been heard recently regarding the danger to pedestrians' eyes and faces from the low hanging branches, and the apparent irregularity of growth of the trees. Some of the trees have died from various causes, and there is danger of personal taste being exercised in the replanting which will result in the mixing of varieties and a consequent detriment to the beauty of the streets.

Mr. Forman has outlined in an advertisement in these columns an economical plan of community forestry whereby all trees will be pruned and sprayed yearly, and otherwise cared for as their needs may require.

TO THE PUBLIC

We beg to announce that the tinning and coppersmith business at 210 King street, will continue business under the name of Leroy Beach as in the past, the shop is now open for business, where all orders will receive prompt attention.

The Athletic Carnival

Interesting Affair Under Auspices of Dreadnaught Athletic Club

The Athletic Carnival given under the auspices of the Dreadnaught Athletic Club last night at the Opera House started on scheduled time and was one of the most skillfully arranged and conducted entertainments ever staged in this city.

Albert Poss and Sampson were the figures in the initial bout of four rounds that looked like a draw, while the second number of 2 rounds between Slim Richards and H. Poss gave the Poss a decision on points.

Prof Whipps gave an interesting talk on the prize fight game and included in same some of the points of boxing that are not generally known to those interested in the sport. In this comments he touched upon the personal life of great fighters, the advantages of the styles of fighting, as well as methods used in climbing to pugilistic fame.

Turtle Quayle and Rainbow Poss the bantams mixed it up for three rounds to a draw. This was one of the events of the program that showed high class boxing and both are under the training of "Sinner" Hayden.

Slim McIntosh and Everett Taylor with a clever exhibition of 3 rounds of boxing, stepped on the gas in each act and furnished the most exciting part of the show. Taylor was the victor flooring his opponent several times during the engagement.

Two soldiers hit the pace for five rounds but young McCoy from Myer showed plenty of army pep and made his partner's nose the target of several swift jabs just as time was called in the last round.

Joe Verde of Baltimore in a wrestling match with Cornell forfeited to the latter on account of inability to continue. Each had a fall to their credit when forfeit was made.

Tom Cockrell won from Snoots in a single fall match that lasted 46 minutes. This was one of the best wrestling matches ever witnessed in Alexandria and both men entered at 160 pounds.

Popular selections at intervals in the program were rendered by the Citizens Band and were highly instrumental in making the affair a success.

A battle-royal between three of our colored citizens and one of the blackest visitors that ever peeped through the arch of Freedom at Cox's Tavern furnished a riot of fun. The event was scarcely a minute old when Hoy Tyler stepped in Mule Buckley's countenance. The audience was on its feet throughout teh battle and were joyfully amused at the strategy of Ostrich Bull in covering his head when the storm of blows were being aimed at points of his anatomy it would be safe to gamble as being more delicate. Only several prostrations from laughter occurred but these were well taken care of by a nearby apothecary store.

Theron Hayden, manager of the entire program as well as his committee is to be thanked for the completeness of the show and the success of its purpose in raising funds for the Dreadnaught Baseball Field.

Women's Gym Class

Will Use Young Peoples' Building

The young women's gymnasium class, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., will meet in the Young Peoples' Building, of the M. E. Church South. The board of stewards of the church granted the class the use of the building last night at a special meeting, stating that they were glad to add their bit to this extension of the work of the Y. M. C. A., to the whole community."

The class will have its first meeting Monday evening, April 4, and will report ready for work. Secretary Wallace, of the Y. M. C. A., will be the instructor and he stated that as there were only ten weeks in the course, even the first night would not entirely be given over to organization, but work would actually be begun.

The class is open to all young women of the city until the enrollment reaches forty, and already many young married women have enrolled. The class bids fair to a popular innovation among the women and the limit will probably be reached before the first session Monday evening.

W. A. SMOOT HEADS COMMERCE BODY

Directors Elect Officers For The Ensuing Year

THANK J. Y. WILLIAMS

Chamber Has Total of 467 Memberships—Five New Members Elected —To Co-operate in Irish Drive

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce at a meeting held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon elected these officers to serve for the ensuing year: W. A. Smoot, president; R. E. Knight, vice president; J. T. Preston, secretary and treasurer. The election of a business manager was deferred by the directors. Captain G. H. Evans will be re-elected business manager within the next few days.

Mr. Smoot, the new president of the organization, was assured that he would have the unqualified support of the entire membership of the organization.

Julian Y. Williams, retiring president, made an address in which he thanked the chamber for the splendid co-operation they gave in making his administration a success. The directors tendered a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Williams for his excellent work in behalf of the chamber during the past year.

Announcement was made that the chamber now has a total of 467 memberships.

Five new members were elected at the meeting as follows: Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, G. H. Davis, Carroll D. Woolf, E. A. Morre and L. D. Christie.

The directors promised to co-operate in the drive for the relief of the stricken women and children of Ireland and they also heard an address by Mrs Mary T. Wishman, field secretary of the Salvation Army which will be found in another column.

Noted Orator Coming

Dr. J. J. Walsh to Speak on "Ameriacnism" Tuesday at Lyceum Hall

Dr. James J. Walsh, medical director of Fordham University, New York, and national lecturer of the Knights of Columbus Reconstruction Work, will deliver a lecture on "Americanism," at the Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening, April 5th. Dr. Walsh is a particularly brilliant orator, and has addressed public meetings of Americans in every part of the United States. The committee in charge of the arrangements has invited a number of city officials to be present, and the citizens of Alexandria are cordially invited to be present, for the address carries with it a civic message to all Americans. The press throughout the country has heralded Dr. Walsh not only as a great orator, but as the deliverer of a message particularly appealing to the real American spirit when so much unrest exists today.

The admission to the hall on this evening will be free, and no cards will be issued, all expenses in connection with Dr. Walsh's work being borne by the National Order of the Knights of Columbus. It will be remembered that another celebrated lecturer of the order, David Goldstein, delivered a great address at Liberty Hut, Washington, last year, on "Bolshevism." While Dr. Walsh's theme does not deal as directly with radicalism as did the lecture of David Goldstein, his lecture on Americanism lays stress on the Constitution of the United States, which the great American Cardinal declared to be "The palladium of our liberties."

$100 REWARD

The Alexandria Gazette will pay a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who turned in the false alarm of fire Friday night, March 25, 1921.

A certified check for the foregoing amount has been placed in the hands of Chief of Police C. T. Goods. This offer hold good for thirty days from March 28, 1921.

CARDINAL GIBBONS LAID TO REST

Notables Attend Funeral Ceremonies at Cathedral

MASS BY ARCHBISHOP

Throngs Attend Solemn Services—Five Minute Suspension of Business —Brother is Prostrated

Baltimore, March 31.—In a crypt beneath the high altar of the ancient grey Cathedral Church, hard by the baptismal font to which his parents brought him eighty-seven years ago, James Cardinal Gibbons, priest, prelate, patriot, and dean of Cardinals in the Roman Catholic Church was laid to his long rest today.

His entombment with his predecessors in the archepiscopal office—among them John Carroll, friend of Washington and of Franklin—came at the close of a requiem solemn with the liturgy which has grown up throughout the centuries and perfect in every detail, from the processional which ushered in the ceremony to the recessional which moved out of the church after the sepulchre had been closed with a marble slab.

At the conclusion of the solemn service in the Cathedral proper, attended by the largest and most notable assemblage of ecclesiastics ever gathered together in America, there was a brief pause. The pallbearers carried the coffin to its niche in the crypt beneath the chancel. A stillness, deeper than all that had gone before, pervaded the vast edifice and was broken only when the voice of Bishop Corrigan, auxiliary to the dead Cardinal and now administrator of the diocese, was heard intoning

SALVATION ARMY HOME SERVICE PLAN

Mrs. Mary T. Wishman Outlines Work to Commerce Directors

TRIBUTE MISS BOOTH

During Past Year Army Cared for 49,000 Children—Asked Co-operation of Public Work

Mrs. Mary T. Wishman, research bureau field director of the Salvation Army who is in the city calling attention to the great National Home Service Plan for local needs, said in part in a short address to the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, that there were several problems before the thinking and earnest people of the world today but that the greatest one was not that of labor and capital, or of poverty and riches, or of democracy and aristocracy. The problem of this age is to believe that men are mutually helpful to each other and that men have mutual interests in each other."

"All religious organizations will contribute in the solution of the total of this problem, but I know of no organization that will stand back of men and human kind better than the Salvation Army. I am not lessening the love and respect I bear for my church, for I am a Church member, when I say to you that it is my deliberate judgement that there is not anything in the world today that is comparable to what the Salvation Army is doing for humanity of limited privileges and opportunities.

Mrs. Wishman paid the greatest tribute to Miss Evangeline Booth, Commander in chief of the American Salvation Army Forces, saying that of all great orators in the world today, she is the greatest."

"If instead of being a Salvation Lassie, she had been an actress, no woman would have graced the stage as she would have; if instead of a Salvation Lassie she had been a politician, it would not have been worth while for any one else to have run on the other ticket. She pricked my conscience several years ago and has done so many times since and for two years I have at every opportunity by personal effort, by word of mouth and by contribution helped this Salvation Army who teaches me the meaning of the verse in scripture, (I do not quote correctly) "How can you love God whom you have not seen if you love not your brother whom you have seen?"

"The Salvation Army through its national system of a trained personnel and well equipped homes is rendering a constructive service which reconstitutes men and women and does not pauperize them. It is a system built upon years of sacrifice, which operates in sixty-four countries and about which most of us know only that it did a wonderful work in the war."

The war brought many things to the Salvation Army that many know nothing or but little about. For one thing it brought recognition of their consecration to the service of their fellow man because of their consecration to Him who rules us all. More than all it brought the overwhelming burden of additional relief work. The demands upon its limited personnel are tremendous. The need of their services is almost beyond belief and in the last year more than ten thousand unfortunate girls have had the protection and comfort and encouragement from the loving arms of the Salvation Army. These girls are not the Magdalenes of the street but the Magdalenes of the Homes of America—girls of tender years, betrayed by a relative or trusted friend or brutally served. They are carefully hidden from scorn and brought back to a feeling of self respect. She is taught the power of prayer and she is given a position in some sheltered and Christian woman's home where she with her babe can earn their living until in the period of three years, her faith in her fellow men and women is fully restored and the Army continuously looks after her and traces her and traces her progress step by step."

Big Bargains

Merchants Prepare For Prosperity Week April 4-11

Alexandria merchants are busily engaged in completing details for national prosperity week April 4-11. Buyers have become deeply interested in the coming event judging from the inquiries being made of the various merchants and from present indications the buyers in this city in common with the buyers in every city in the country that will participate take advantage of the bargains that will be offered that week. A New York trade Journal has the following to say on Prosperity Week.

National Prosperity Week which will begin April 4 and last to the 11th will go over big according to the reports received.

Telegraphic rush orders for materials to promote the event are now being received at the bureau and at least 2000 organizations will officially observe it next week. Mr. Rosthal stated. About 50 such orders were received with instructions to send posters, cuts and press material in order that the campaign might be started promptly and with full vigor.

In addition to the organizations which have officially indorsed the plan there are a large number of others who are adopting the outline in part. For instance, Mr. Rosthal told of certain communities which were promoting some other event but had promised to work in the prosperity idea wherever possible, together with their own campaign.

Plan Big Festival

Alumni of St. Mary's Academy to Hold Bazaar May 2nd, 3rd And 4th

The alumni of St. Mary's Academy has made preliminary arrangements for a big bazaar and festival to be held at the Academy on May 2nd, 3rd and 4th. The chairman of the arrangements committee is Miss Catherine Weschler, of Washington, who is being assisted in her efforts by the alumni body and by representations from each of the various societies associated with St Mary's Parish. The present plans provide for about nine of ten attractive booths of different kinds, and already the decoration of the hall has been placed in the hands of a committee well familiar with work of this character.

St Mary's has long been recognized as one of the leading educational institutions of the South, and the purpose of the alumni is to lend some financial assistance to an institution to which they are greatly indebted.

St. Mary's grounds, particularly in the month of May, are especially beautiful, and a large attendance at the affair is anticipated by the committee in charge. Another meeting of the committee will be announced in the near future.

RAILROADS SLUMP IN JANUARY

Total of One Hundred and Nine Fail to Meet Expenses

SHORT $68,439,800

Wage Reduction Deemed Essential—President Will be Told Rate Cut at Present Impossible

Washington, March 31.—It developed today, upon the eve of the President's conference with the chairmen of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Labor Board upon the railroad problem that in January the carriers suffered a deficit of $1,167,800 and that 109 out of 202 railroads failed to earn the expenses and taxes, compared with 88 in December.

As a result of this deficit the carriers failed by $68,439,800 to earn the amount which it was estimated they would earn under the increased rates fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in accordance with the Transportation act.

Of the 109 railroads which failed to make expenses and taxes, 45 were in the Eastern territory, 16 in the Southern and 48 in the Western district.

A letter written by Chairman Clark of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to Senator Harris, of Georgia, bears directly upon the transportation problem as outlined by President Harding yesterday after he had summoned the heads of the Government agencies to meet with him before laying the whole question before Congress for action. Chairman Clark sees no probability of railroad rate reductions in the near future.

"I wish it were possible for me to write you encouragingly in response to your letter of the 3d instant," Mr. Clark said, "but I do not see that I can add to what I said in my letter to you of December 22 on the same subject, to wit, the probability of reductions in freight rates.

"The situation is not so good now as it was in December. There has been a substantial falling off in general traffic. The average operating ratio of the railroads of the United States is something over 90. That means that for every dollar that the railroads earn they pay out in operating expenses more than 90 cents.

"Due to the narrow margin between revenue and operating expenses a good many railroads are not earning their operating expenses and fixed charges and a good many are not even earning their operating expenses. Under these circumstances it is difficult to find an argument in favor of reducing rates unless in instances in which it can be shown that the rates are stifling the traffic and that lower rates which still would be compensatory would effect a movement from which there would be some return."

These in effect are the views which Chairman Clark will confide to the President when he and Chairman Barton, of the Railroad Labor Board, confer with Mr. Harding today or Friday. He will insist that under existing conditions of railway operation, it will be impossible to reduce rates generally without forcing a great majority of the railroads into the hands of receivers.

What Chairman Barton will say to the President is not so clearly forecast. He will come straight from the hearings which the Railroad Labor Board has been holding regarding the abrogation of the wage agreement. He will have fixed in his mind the point of view of both the railway executives and the men, the financial distress of the one element and the determination to resist wage reductions of the other.

In advance of this important conference there is general agreement here that the private management of the railroads is again in the balances

A Gifted Virginian Laid to Rest.

Virginia was not unmindful when yesterday afternoon with impressive ceremonies the body of one of her most gifted sons was laid to rest within the shadows of Lee's old home, Arlington. A guard of honor from the Virginia Military Institute, clad in the old beloved grey, stood by as the remains of Sir Moses Ezekiel, soldier, sculptor and musician were committed to the soil of the native state he loved so well.

It would have been odd indeed had Virginia not been at Ezekiel's bier. It would have been to forget that glorious day when with the beardless youth of Lexington young Ezekiel rushed to Virginia's defense at New Market. It would have been to forget those immortal idealizations in bronze and marble he had made of Washington, Jefferson and Lee, of "Virginia Mourning Her Dead," and of that noble monument in Arlington before which he himself was laid, "Our Dead Heroes." It would have indeed been to forget a long line of honors, distinctions and benefits his great, purposeful life had brought to the feet of Virginia.

President Harding in a fine letter read at the ceremonies characterized Sir Moses as "a great Virginian, a great artist, a great American and a great citizen of world fame." He was all of that indeed and Virginia will be proud in years to come to hold his life up as an example to her youth, as proud as it was yesterday to welcome his dust to her soil.

No Throne for Emperor Charles.

Unless we are mightily mistaken, one of the things that this little World War we have heard something about was fought for was to dispose of once and for all that long line of troublesome autocrats known as the Hapsburgs and the Hohenzollerns. They seemed to have developed a habit of getting on the German and Austrian thrones and then sticking their sabers into the sides of their neighbors. Finally one day they poked their old blades in the shape of some pestiferous submarines into the wrong side, that of old U. S. A.

So we may be pardoned a wee bit of curiosity in the Associated Press dispatches from Budapest indicating that within the past few days former Emperor Charles of Austria has appeared at his old palace gates, bag and baggage, and asked to be taken in and given one nice soft easy throne. We may also be pardoned a certain amount of satisfaction in the report that he was politely but firmly told by all concerned that there was no throne for him and that he had best beat it back to Switzerland.

Say what you please, we can never feel altogether happy with Willie chopping wood up in Holland and Charlie boat-riding and hunting up in the Swiss hills. We are afraid that before we get through with them we will have to take Colonel Watterson's advice and send them to some place where they will be absolutely safe.

"It was the business of the Salvation Army in the past year to help with the future citizenry of this country by caring for over 49,000 children, many of them delinquent or from criminal homes. All were suitably placed and are in good homes being taught along lines to make them useful American men and women, capable of supporting themselves honestly."

The Salvation Army now seeks the co-operation of the general public through the formation of Advisory Boards in every populous community that together the aggravated forms of welfare problems may be reached in the home town. All the many major activities of relief and rehabilitation of the Salvation Army are placed at the disposal of any emergency cases there the medium of the local advisory board who are a comprehensive group of citizens who represent the Salvation Army and the people of its community in the solution of the aggravated welfare problems seldom understood by the mind untrained in the scientific treatment of such cases, and which provides the communities share of the Salvation Army Maintenance."

Mrs. Wishman briefly went over 16 of the great services of the Salvation Army and there are some that are those the city of Alexandria sorely needs and in urging the formation of such a Board to represent the Civic conditions and the army's solution to, better such, she is doing revelation work to many good and well meaning citizens who did not realize the needs apparent only to those who have been closely allied to the conditions here as they exist today and in the past.

It is only fair and just that every community contribute to the furtherance of this great service in all sections of the State in order that the conditions and support may be equitably distributed throughout.

Invite Harding to Attend Meeting of Acca Temple

Richmond, Va., March 31.—President Harding will be invited to attend the next meeting of the Acca Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, to be held in June, and it is hoped that he will be able to attend the ceremonies. The lodge has appointed a delegation to call on Mr. Harding in Washington and present the invitation.

President Harding has been a Mason for a number of years, but since he was elevated to the presidency he has taken the higher ranks and then he became a Shriner.

SPECIAL NOTICE

We are making an offer to the people of the Rosemonts to give expert yearly care to the street trees for an annual charge of fifty cents per tree. This includes at least one careful trimming and as many sprayings as may be necessary. We will also care for the trees in event of sudden injury or decline and replace any that may die at actual cost.

It is especially desirable to maintain symetry of growth and to do all possible to keep the trees healthy from the standpoint of property values, and by placing this matter in the hands of experts, the owner is relieved of all trouble and improvement will be noticed after the first treatment.

We must necessarily have the owners cooperation in starting this movement, and we respectfully request all interested parties to communicate with us at the earliest possible opportunity.

In event that we receive enough responses to prove a community interest in this matter, we will take immediate steps to explain our offer personally.

Moss Freed of Murder in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, March 31.—Joseph Carchia Moss was acquitted of the murder of Harry T. Heirs this afternoon by a jury in Quarter Sessions Court No. 1, under binding instructions from Judge Audenreid.

The crowd, which jammed the room, cheered for a minute when the foreman of the jury announced the verdict.

The acquittal on the charge of murder followed Moss' change of his plea of "not guilty" to one of "guilty" in the second charge against him, that of accessory after the fact.

Though acquitted of murder, he will be sent to jail as an accessory. Judge Audenreid announced that he would sentence Moss at the conclusion of the trial of "Boots" Rogers, indicted on the same charges, which begins at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

"Boots," as nonchalant as ever, was the star witness for the State against Moss. She gave testimony which seemed of so damaging a nature that Moss' attorneys were eager to get him to change his plea. They argued with him for 15 minutes while Judge Audenreid held up the proceedings, before he would agree.

Blind Ox, Losing Gander Guide, Dies of Broken Heart

Greensboro, Ala., March 31.—The blind ox, famous as the protege and ward of a stately gander on the J. A. Holcroft plantation, ten miles west of this city, is dead, and those on the Holcroft farm believe his death was due directly to separation from his guardian.

Since last fall, when the ox lost its sight, the gander had acted as personal guardian of its huge, helpless friend. They were in constant association.

Three days ago it became necessary to transfer the ox to another field. The gander was unable to follow. The ox pined and finally died.

DEMANDS CASH WITH GUN; FAILS AND THEN KILLS SELF

San Francisco, March 31.—The body of a man who committed suicide in the office of C. A. Carothers, publisher of the San Francisco Bulletin, after demanding $5,000 at the point of a revolver, yesterday was identified as that of J. N. Murray, son of Mrs. William Murray, of Johnstown, Pa.

Police said the identification was made by parties who had come to San Francisco from Seattle on the same steamer with him.

LEGION COMMANDER ISSUES WARNING

Richmond, Va., March 31.—Officers of the Virginia Department of the American Legion here received today from National Commander Galbraith a warning against the public solicitations of organizations in behalf of disabled ex-serivce men, which is being carried on by one or more organizations of this country.

"At the present time there are several groups in the United States attempting to build up organizations, ostensibly for the care of the disabled," the statement said, "Investigations conducted by National Headquarters have yet to disclose one of the organizations that is soliciting funds from the public as entitled to that support.

"The National Commander believes the remedy for the condition of the disabled is federal legislation providing for the construction of adequate hospitals facilities, for the consolidation of those agencies dealing with the disabled men, for decentralization in their work, and for such federal appropriations as will meet what he feels to be a fundamental federal obligation.

"Posts of the American Legion should warn the public to be on guard against any organization conducting public solicitation for funds to be used for the care of the disabled. The benefactors should see that a considerable portion of the money they contribute does not go to maintaining expensive headquarters, to payment of salaries, personal expenses and the like. The public should be advised to determine that for each one dollar contributed, 100 cents goes directly to the benefit of the disabled.

"The American Legion seeks the cooperation of all legitimate organizations and societies of the United States in the program it is attempting to carry out to obtain a real and lasting solution of the problem of the war's disabled. It emphatically warns the public to be on guard against organizations which cannot stand investigation."

An Appeal to the American People

THREE and one-half million children in Eastern and Central Europe have no alternative to disaster between now and next harvest except American aid. For months these most helpless sufferers in the track of war have been admitted to American feeding-stations only if tragically undernourished, and have received American medical aid only if desperately threatened by death from disease.

One 5 cent hot American meal today has saved a thousand lives.

Winter is closing down. The money of many nations is valueless outside their own boundaries. Economic and crop conditions make famine, with its terrible train of diseases, a certain visitor until next harvest. Inevitably the helpless children will suffer most. No child can grow to health and sanity on the pitiful makeshifts for food with which millions of European adults must content themselves this winter. It is obvious that the remedy can come only from outside.

America saved 6,000,000 European children winter before last. Normal recuperation cut the need nearly in half last year, but unusual conditions have resulted in scant shrinkage of child destitution during the twelvemonth just past. The response of America must now decide whether 3,500,000 of these charges, in acute distress, shall begin to be turned away in January from more than 17,000 asylums, hospitals, clinics and feeding stations dependent on American support. There would be no tragedy in history so sweeping or so destructive of those who can deserve no evil.

The undersigned organizations, working among every race and creed, many engaged also in other forms of relief, agree unanimously that the plight of these helpless children should have complete priority in overseas charity until the situation is met. This is an issue without politics and without religious lines. There can be no danger of pauperization, for the $23,000,000 for child food, and the $10,000,000 for medical service that we seek, will relieve only the critical cases. The medical supplies, of course, must be an unqualified gift, but for every American dollar used in child-feeding, the governments and communities aided furnish two dollars in the form of transportation, rent, labor, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable.

America has not failed in the past in great heartedness. She has never had a more poignant call than this. Contributions should be turned over to the local committees which are now being formed for this national collection, or sent to Franklin K. Lane, Treasurer, Guaranty Trust Co., New York City.

Discuss Bond Issue

Question of Fairfax Supervisor Referred to Attorney General

Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the chamber of commerce, has returned from Richmond where he attended a conference of members on the board of supervisors of Fairfax county held with the members of the state highway commission relative to the bond issue for the improvement of the Little River Turnpike.

The Fairfax delegation desired more specific information as to the bond issue amounting to $500,000.

The commission could not give the delgation any definite assurance regarding the return part of the payment to this fund and informed the delegation that they would refer the matter to the attorney general of the state. A decision from the attorney general on the matter is awaited with considerable interest not only by the residents of Fairfax but also by a large number of persons in this city who are interested in the matter.

SLACKER BERGDOLL JEERS AT MD. FOLKS

Hagerstown, Md., March 31.—"We sure did fool those poor simps" is Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's comment on his escape in this country from military guards and secret service men, written on the back of a postcard from Eberbach, Germany, and received by Owen D. Sherley, proprietor of the Vivian Hotel here.

The postal is an ordinary one, showing a street scene in Eberbach, where the millionaire draft dodger is now making his home to escape prosecution in the United States for evading the draft. The card was posted in February, and carries the following message:

"We are doing fine. Regards to your wife and daughter. We sure did fool those poor simps. Hope to see you again when Harding gets in."

While Bergdoll was dodging military service, he spent several weeks at the Vivian Hotel under an assumed name.

$20,000 VANISHES FROM MONEY PLANT

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Officials of the bureau of engraving and printing are mystified by the disappearance of $20,000 in mutilated $5 bills, some time between Saturday night and Monday morning. The notes, which were on the Federal reserve bank of New York, had been perforated, and were ready to be sent to the Treasury building to be made into pulp.

Although Director Wilmeth said last night that it would be impossible to pass the mutilated currency the disappearance is being investigated by the secret service, and a careful check is being made of all the notes in the bureau. He said that the circumstances surrounding the missing notes causes him to believe that they have been mislaid.

The notes were locked in a steel cage, the key of which was in the hands of the captain of the watch. It is said that it would be difficult to get the package outside of the building, as it weighed 13 pounds, and was almost impossible to conceal.

It was stated that unless the money is found that daily returns of mutilated currency will be made instead of the weekly returns now in vogue at the bureau.

Disappearance of eight $20 bank notes without serial numbers from the bureau on March 21 resulted in the arrest of W. T. Hopkins, 33 years old, of Bancroft, Va., a skilled helper in the bureau, after an alleged attempt to pass one of the bills at a Georgetown clothing store last night. Hopkins, who is accused of having had other notes when arrested by Secet Service Operative Miles McCahill, was locked up at the first precinct station and charged with the theft of the money.

The notes disappeared from the box used to dry ink on the notes where Hopkins worked, and he has been under surveillance for several days, according to secret service men. About 6 o'clock last night he entered a clothing store in Georgetown and tendered a $20 bill for a small purchase.

Glancing at this note, the merchant saw that the seal and serial number was missing and declined to accept it until he had consulted a nearby bank. When he returned Hopkins had disappeared. McCahill arrested him two blocks from teh store. Hopkins, employed at the bureau for about six months, made a confession, according to the secret service men.

NEGROES ARRESTED ON WILLIAMS FARM

Covington, Ga., March 31.—Federal agents raided the farm in Jasper county yesterday of John S. Williams, charged with having caused the murder of 11 negroes, and arrested several negro farm hands whom they desired as material witnesses in the investigation of alleged peonage conditions on the farm, which are declared to have caused the killings.

Williams, it was announced yesterday by Judge John B. Hutheson, presiding judge in the Newton county superior court, will be placed on trial here Tuesday on one of the murder indictments which followed the finding of the bodies of three negroes in a river in this county. More than 100 veniremen have been summoned. Governor Dorsey has suggested that Williams be tried on each charge separately.

There are three murder charges in this county against Williams, who, Clyde Manning, his negro farm boss, charged brought three negroes into this county and had them drowned. The Jasper county grand jury will meet April 11 to inquire into the deaths of eight negroes whose bodies were found in that county and the governor has asked the jurors not only to indict Williams and Manning, but also the three younger sons of Williams.

Reports that the three younger sons of the plantation owner had sought to incite white residents against the negroes by spreading reports that the negroes planned an uprising were investigated again yesterday by the grand jury here, which recessed last night without taking definite action. It was announced the inquiry would be taken up again at an early date.

Stories alleged to have been told the grand jury by Floyd Johnson, a young white man, that there had been a concerted effort to cause racial trouble and to make it appear negroes killed the men found dead, in the hope of influencing public sentiment in favor of John S. Williams, were discussed yesterday by Dr. Gus Williams, a hero of the Somme retreat, where his services won him the British war cross.

The older Williams, and the three youngest sons, Dallas, Huland and Marvin, have refused to discuss the case since the father issued his first statement denying the charges, but the oldest son, Dr. Williams, called newspaper men in yesterday and offered to answer any questions.

Dr. Williams declared his father and brothers were innocent of the murders and of the alleged attempt to incite race trouble.

"COMMANDERS" TO LEAD

10,000 U. of Va., Alumni "Back to the Old Rotunda" For Centennial Celebration

Charlottesville, Va., March 31.—Appointments of forty-nine class "commanders," who will lead the 10,000 University of Virginia alumni "back to the old Rotunda," for the Centennial celebration, were announced today by Lewis D. Crenshaw, alumni secretary. The Centennial dates are from May 31 to June 3, inclusive.

It will be the duty of these commanders, not only to organize their respective classes for the May pilgrimage to Alma Mater, but to stimulate class interest and competition in the $3,000,000 Centennial Endowment Fund which will be presented to the University on one of the Centennial days.

TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

Richmond, Va., March 31.—Virginians interested in the fight against tuberculosis will be glad to learn that Miss Agnes D. Randolph has returned to her home State to resume her work against the white plague. Miss Randolph is officially connected with the State Board of Health in the capacity of director of the tuberculosis educational work, a branch of endeavor for which she is regarded as being unusually fitted.

As executive secretary of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, Miss Randolph became well known to health workers and health advocates, not only in this State but far beyond its borders. Credit is given to her for the establishment of the negro sanatorium at Burkeville and the new sanatorium for white patients at Charlottesville. Certainly her efforts before the Virginia Legislature were determining in securing a definite recognition of Virginia's obligations to her tuberculosis victims.

Miss Randolph has been extremely successful recently as field secretary of the Texas Public Health Association, and the Lone Star State did not wish to lose her; but she has been anxious to return to the land of her birth and re-engage in the work that owes so much to her genius and pertinacity.

This educational work is a new division authorized by the last legislature and no plans for its conduct have been prepared. Miss Randolph, therefore, will start with a clean slate and make her own program.

NURSING SERVICE IS RAPIDLY EXPANDING

This American Red Cross Work Flourishing in Small Towns Throughout Country.

More than 37,000 graduate nurses have been enrolled in the American Red Cross to date and its department of nursing is daily increasing this enrollment.

The department of nursing has been authorized to maintain an adequate reserve of nurses for the army and navy. It will continue to supply the needs of the United States Public Health Service to which it has assigned more than 1,000 nurses in the last year.

It will assist in establishing proper nursing service in foreign countries where the American Red Cross has organized hospitals, dispensaries and schools for nurses. Courses in home hygiene and care of the sick have been started for thousands of women who have never received any education in this direction. Rural nursing which was in its infancy a short while ago has been put ahead at least a decade through the work of the department of nursing and local Red Cross chapters.

Public health nursing has been extended to many rural communities and now flourishes actively in hundreds of small towns and counties. Nearly a thousand efficient nurses have already been assigned to this kind of work.

The department of nursing is uniting with other organizations in a year's campaign in recruiting nurses for training schools, in educating the general public as to standards of nursing education and in showing communities their responsibility toward schools of nursing. It will endeavor to meet all these needs as well as to continue the enrollment of dietitians who will be utilized as instructors in home dietetics, in developing nutritional clinics, and in supplying dietitians for the United States Public Health Service and the civilian hospitals.

The Nursing Service will continue to offer to women and young girls the opportunity of securing instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick in every community in the country. This instruction has not only laid the foundation for public health but in some places has given impetus to the establishment of hospitals and community school houses.

"As a community profits by the work of the nurse," says Miss Clara D. Noyes, director of the department of nursing, "it is logical that the community should be aroused to its responsibility. The American Red Cross stands ready to help in a general campaign of recruiting and must have the support, sympathy and understanding of the medical profession as well as the intelligent co-operation of the people at large."

HOME SERVICE FOR EVERYBODY IN NEED

Do you know what the present day Home Service of the American Red Cross is?

Many people do not know that, besides completing the work for ex-service men, especially the disabled, it provides the same neighborly service to families in general that it formerly gave families of soldiers, sailors and marines.

"Home Service covers a wide and varied field," says Frederick C. Munroe, general manager of the American Red Cross. "It gives aid to families in solving such problems as budget planning, marketing, tiding over times of financial stress, keeping children in school, helping crippled children, widowed and deserted mothers, children backward in school and children in conflict with the laws. It renders service to the homeless and transient, to the illiterate, to tenement dwellers, to the unemployed, and gives friendly assistance and advice to foreign speaking groups."

In addition to helping families in the solution of their own problems, Home Service helps in strengthening the weak spots in the social life of communities. It joins hands with others to make communities safer, healthier and happier.

Organizing action along lines in which the community is already interested is one of the objects of Home Service. It has established community meetings, patriotic celebrations, pageants and picnics. Rest rooms, recreation facilities, play supervisors and moving pictures have been provided. Through Home Service other agencies are influenced to bring about improved commercial amusements and better school facilities and to promote traveling libraries as well as to secure county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

If you need assistance at any time go to the secretary of the nearest Red Cross chapter and describe the situation. Your confidence will be sacredly respected and every possible effort will be made to aid you.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"The price of the FORDSON Tractor has been reduced from $790.00 to $625.00, effective immediately.

"This price change has been made possible through lower costs of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new Tractor Plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is poured directly from the ore, giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production, and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality.

"We are particularly pleased in being able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit within the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefitted through its use and are already realizing, to a much greater extent, its value as a power and hauling unit. But particularly has the FORDSON Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor, at the same time increasing the per acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery.

"There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement made in the development of agriculture, not only in money saving and money making results, as well as raising the standards of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of land more productive, and consequently our desire to place the FORDSON within the reach of all.

"THERE IS NO CHANGE IN THE PRESENT FORD CAR AND TRUCK PRICES, which are already at the lowest possible figure and now with rock bottom reached on the tractor price a further reduction in price of either the car, truck or tractor is out of the question; in fact, the big price cuts have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increases may be necessary before long if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increases."

Ask for the book "The Fordson at Work," which will be supplied free of cost. Let us demonstrate the value of the Fordson on your farm, in your factory, lumber yard, coal yard, or in any general hauling or power work you have to do and let us have your order for a Fordson.

Jury Gropes With Claims of Two Girl Orphans to $200,000 Estate

Leavenworth, Kan., March 31.—Years ago two little girls of the same age were playmates in a Leavenworth orphanage. Since then both have married and one has died. Now a jury in District Court here is being called upon to decide which one is the rightful heir to an estate valued at more than two hundred thousand dollars.

Mrs. Maggie Meyers of Easton, Kansas, and the children of Mrs. Josephine Stimpson, who died recently are claiming the estate, which consists of valuable land in California. The court action is to determine which of the two orphanage girls was the daughter of Mrs Marie Pieper, known in Leavenworth as "old lady Batch," an eccentric character, who sold knick-knacks from house to house for years. After her death it was learned that she had been left the fortune in California.

Mrs. Meyers contends that she is the rightful heir, having been adopted by H. W. Gillette, of this city, who found her in the orphanage. Sears she is known to have received in a fire when a girl, when the home of "old lady Batch" was destroyed, promise to play an important part in the case.

According to the records of the orphanage, however, Mrs. Stimpson was "old lady Batch's" daughter, but the other claimant contends there was a case of mistaken identity, the two girls being of the same age and similar appearance.

Many old residents of Leavenworth are being called in the case in an effort to untangle the web woven about the two claimants.

Dress Making Bills Do Not Worry Amazon Women

New York, March 30.—Dress making bills are not least worries of the fashionable ladies in the Upper Amazon County. When a society belle wants a new gown, she just washes off her old one and paints on a new one. No hooks and eyes, no bother with fittings, no metal can touch you.

Dr. Herbert S. Dickery, of Highland Falls, N. Y., returning from a ramble among the Amazon tribes, with whom he has spent half his life; said the women knew no vanity until they saw colored fashion plates from a white man's magazine, whereupon, lacking the textiles, they garbed themselves with painted designs.

C. E. Haviland, Porcelain Maker, is Dead in France

Limoges, France, March 31.—C. E. Haviland, for half a century head of the famous porcelain manufacturing firm, is dead here. Mr. Haviland was a descendant of Theodore Haviland, an American who came to France and established the firm of porcelain manufacturers bearing his name.

The American origin of the firm served it well fifteen years ago when Limoges was in the throes of a great strike. Mr. Haviland, who served in a consular capacity for the American government, flew the American flag over his factory, which the mob became clamoring and as a consequence the factory was undisturbed. Mr. Haviland was 82 years old.

Find Narcotics and Gems Hidden in Walnut Shells

New York, March 31.—Hundreds of tiny phials of cocaine and heroin concealed in walnut shells, and diamonds, aigrettes, paradise feathers and bunches of gold watches hidden in false bottoms of trunks and suitcases, were confiscated from Dominic Conti, according to customs officials, when Conti, a second cabin passenger on the President Wilson, attempted to go ashore with his luggage after declaring he had nothing dutiable. Altogether the drugs, diamonds, feathers and watches are worth $100,000, Customs Guard Safarik, who inspected Conti's bagage, said.

Conti lives in New York. He was arrested on a charge of smuggling. In a money belt around Conti's waist the inspectors said they found 120 additional phials of cocaine.

and can only be cured by a sweeping reduction in the cost of operation. This reduction is possible, on a large scale, only through a revision downward of the existing wages paid to railroad labor.

Some economies, it is admitted, may be effected through the merging of the individual lines into regional systems and through the joint use of rolling stock, of terminals and other properties, as proposed in the Warfield plan. But they will not go far, it is feared, toward rescuing the carriers from their present predicament.

The solution of the problem, therefore, seems to lie in the willingness of the three million or more railway operatives to accept less pay. Whether they can be induced to do this without a battle that may result in disastrous strikes, if not in a general breakdown of the whole transportation system, is one of the questions which the President will ask Judge Barton to answer.

What Mr. Harding will evolve out of the conferences which he will hold, first with Government officials and later with the railway executives and the officials of the railroad unions, before addressing himself to Congress is yet to be determined.

That the President will confer with the railroad presidents and with representatives of the men now seems to be certain. He is expected to call committees from each group to Washington within the next few days. He will inform himself first as to the actual conditions as they may be reflected by Chairmen Clark and Barton. Then he will call the other interests to the White House to get their views, and perhaps to offer them some plan of immediate action.

It remains to be seen whether or not the President makes an appeal to railroad labor to accept some reduction in wages without a fight. The impression prevails here, however, that he will make some such proposal to the brotherhoods, if he finds no other means of dealing with the problem.

the final prayer for the eternal repose of the dead prelate.

The pontifical mass of requiem began at 10 o'clock. Long before that hour a throng which numbered thousands surrounded the mourning-draped cathedral into which presently moved the long procession of clergy and hierarchy. The last solemn requiem for the dead cardinal was attended chiefly by the hierarchy and priests of America and the distinguished representatives of municipal, State and national governments, as well as by members of the diplomatic corps and their staffs from Washington.

Earlier services had been especially set aside for the children of the archdiocese, the men and women of the religious orders, and for the laity.

Although the seating capacity of the cathedral is great, it would have afforded accommodations for only a small fraction of the throng which assembled outside long before the hour set for the services.

Up the broad aisle of the cathedral to the sanctuary with its sable-draped altar, past the bier of the dead churchman, the long procession wended its way as the great organ pealed out the solemn tones of the funeral march.

A touch of brilliancy was added to the scene when scores of Monsignori, each attired in flowing purple robes and wearing a purple zarretta, moved next toward the catafalque where lay the honored dead. Then came the archbishops and bishops, fourscore of them—gorgeous in mitre and cope—followed by the officers of the requiem mass. The celebrant of the mass was the Most Rev. John Bonzano, D. D., apostolic delegate, and also the representative of the Pope himself.

The ceremony about the cathedral was as colorful and impressive as the ceremonies within. Especially impressive was the scene when the shadows brooded over the city at 4 o'clock, the hour set for the beginning of the funeral mass. In accordance with a proclamation of the Mayor, there was a five minute suspension of work. During that period street traffic was at a standstill and there was a general cessation of activity. Governor Ritchie, also in a proclamation to the State of Maryland, requested a one minute suspension of all activities as a mark of grateful recognition of Cardinal Gibbons' life and work.

Archbishop Bonzano, celebrant of the mass, was attended by two deacons of honors, and then came the deacon of the mass, the sub-deacon, and the masters of ceremonies. At the very end of the long procession which made its way through the nave, heavily draped with black and purple, were the ranking members of the heirarchy in America—Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, senior Cardinal in the United States, and Cardinal Begin of Quebec, ranking prelate in the Dominion of Canada. Each wore, besides the Cardinal's red denoting membership in the Sacred College, the mitre and a heavily brocaded cape of rare splendor.

Among the distinguished laymen noted in the great assemblage were the mayor and city officials of Baltimore, clergymen of many denominations, the Governor of Maryland and his staff; James A. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus; Rene Viviani, envoy extraordinary to the United States and former Premier of France; the French Ambassador, Jules J. Jusserand; the Italian Ambassador, Vittori Rolandi Ricci; the Belgian Ambassador, the Spanish Ambassador; representatives of the British Embassy and of the Polish legation and other members of the diplomatic corps and government officials who came over from Washington for the funeral.

The funeral sermon was preached by the Most Rev. J. J. Glennon, Archbishop of St. Louis. Just before the body was carried to the crypt, the final absolution was pronounced by Archbishop Bonzano and four other bishops. The ceremonies of committal were simple and occupied but a few minutes.

Cardinal Gibbons' only brother, John J. Gibbons, of New Orleans, was unable to be present at the funeral. Archbishop Shaw, who came on from New Orleans for the services, brought word that Mr. Gibbons, bowed by the weight of his eighty-two years, was completely prostrated upon hearing of his brother's death. Grand nieces and grand nephews were the only blood relatives of the dead prelate who attended the funeral.

Gives 200 Inches Of Skin For Sister

Gary, Ind., March 31.—Leonard Considine, 12 years old, woke this morning at the Mercy Hospital in Gary and smiled across the hallway at his 11-year-old sister, Mary Katherine, who lay weak, but smiling in the cot she has occupied for the past six weeks.

It was only twenty-four hours before that Leonard gave 200 inches of healthy skin to be grafted on his sister, who has been suffering from burns received when she skipped too near a bonfire in the rear of the Considine home.

The brother seems to suffer no ill effects from having the skin removed from his limbs and Mary Katherine greeted the doctor with a "good morning," the first word she has spoken since she was burned.

Attending physicians state that she has a good chance to recover.

Legion to Decorate Graves of Soldiers Who Died Abroad

Indianapolis, March 31.—The graves of every American soldier who died overseas in the World war will be decorated on Memorial Day by the American Legion.

All posts of the legion were called on for contributions to help the expense of a program sent today by Lemuel Bowles, national adjutant. The burden of the cost, the bulletin said, rests with the members of the legion, but public contributions also will be accepted.

Relatives of the deceased soldiers may have a special floral offering or decoration placed on the graves through the legion's committees in France, Great Britain, Belgium and Germany, it also was announced.

WALLACE WILL APPEAR IN STOKES DIVORCE CASE

New York, March 31.—Edgar T. Wallace, a rich California oil man, said by witnesses in the Stokes divorce trial here to have entertained Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes in the bachelor apartments in which he formerly lived in New York has filed notice in the county clerk's office that he will appear when the trial is resumed some time in April. The recess was taken with the apparent intention of Mrs. Stokes' counsel to introduce Wallace as a witness for the defense.

Wallace's counsel, Wise, Whitney and Parker, said they would insist on his right to cross examine the witnesses who linked his name with that of the beautiful young wife of the elderly William Earl Dodge Stokes.

COP, STABBED AT DANCE, TO RECOVER

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Stabbed near the heart while quelling a fight at a negro dance last night, Police Lieut. Martin Reilly, of the First precinct, felled his alleged assailant with a blow of his fist and placed him under arrest. Reilly is at Emergency Hospital where it is said he probably will recover.

Reilly and Sergt. John T. Wittstatt were attracted to the Coliseum, Eighth street, and Pennsylvania Avenue, where the dance was being given, by a disturbance. They were questioning Joseph A. Harris, colored, 28 years old, of 2020 E St. northwest, they say, when Harris lunged at the lieutenant. Reilly promptly knocked him down, summoned a patrol wagon and took him to the station. Reilly did not know he had been stabbed until a brother officer at the station house noticed blood on his coat, and further investigation revealed a wound in his left side, three inches deep.

Harris is being held on a charge of intoxication pending further investigation of the stabbing of Reilly and the result of Reilly's wound.

"What is the matter with Constable Slackputter?" asked the washing machine agent. "He looked exceedingly disgusted about something."

"He is suffering from the accident of discharge of his duty," replied the landlord of the Perquin tavern. Then, naturally, he was obliged to arrest the whole bunch, and in the exercise of his authority he got considerably trampled on."—Kansas City Star.

There remain in army hospitals throughout the country more than 26,000 soldiers still being treated for wounds received overseas. Red Cross workers give them the same sort of friendly aid—only more of it—that was given during the war. Furthermore the Red Cross is teaching these bedridden occupations at which they can later make a living and is keeping in touch with their home folks in order that no dependents may suffer for lack of funds.

WHAT REDS WOULD HAVE US SING

—From I. W. W. Songs—Seized in Red Raids of U. S. Department of Justice.

One day as I sat pining
A message of cheer came to me,
A light of revolt was shining
On a country far over the sea.
The forces of rulers to sever
And the flag of the earth to unfold
To secure our freedom forever
And a world of beauty untold.

We have lived in meek submission
Thru ages of toil and despair,
To comply with the plutes' ambition
With never a thought nor a care.
An echo from Russia is sounding
'Tis the chimes of a True Liberty,
It's a message for millions resounding
To throw off your chains and be free.

CHORUS.

All hail to the Bolsheviki!
We will fight for our Class and be free,
A Kaiser, King or Czar, no matter which you are
You're nothing of interest to me;
If you don't like the red flag of Russia,
If you don't like the spirit so true,
Then just be like the cur in the story
And lick the hand that's robbing you.

NATIONWIDE FIGHT AGAINST DISEASE

American Red Cross Will Have Health Centers in All Parts of United States.

The American Red Cross has launched upon a nation wide campaign of fighting disease and physical defect among the American people. A new and unique health institution has come into being as the result of several months' study by the Red Cross Health Service Department at National Headquarters.

Officials in charge of the department predict that before long this new health activity will be in actual operation all over the country, and that the sign—"American Red Cross Health Center"—will become as familiar to the people everywhere as are now the signs of the telegraph companies.

Busy Long Before War.

The interest of the American Red Cross in the fight against disease is not, however, of recent origin. Long before the war the organization began this health service through its medical units in disaster relief work, and its department of Town and County Nursing. During the war and following the armistice thousands of American Red Cross officials have been fighting disease in the war-stricken countries. At the same time tens of thousands of local Red Cross officials have been engaged at home fighting disease, notably during the influenza epidemics.

The American Red Cross has determined that all this valuable experience in health service abroad and at home shall not go to waste. So long as there are a half a million people dying yearly in this country from preventable causes, and so long as more than one-third of the American children and young people are victims of physical defects, the Red Cross recognizes the urgent need for continued Red Cross health service at home.

How Organization Works.

The Red Cross Health Center is governed by business principles, applies business methods, and, in its more simple form, can be established and conducted by lay people.

It proceeds upon the demonstrated fact that health is a commodity that can be bought and sold like brooms and soap. Therefore, it establishes itself in a storeroom in the principal business section of the community. It displays its goods in the form of attractive health exhibits in its show windows. It advertises constantly and extensively. And it uses every business and social device to attract customers.

The Red Cross Health Center is of service to the sick in that it gives out reliable and complete information about existing clinics, hospitals, sanatoria and other institutions for the sick and the defective; about available nurses, both trained and practical; about when to consult a physician and why to shun the quack and his nostrums.

Teaching Disease Prevention.

The Red Cross Health Center is however, of even greater service to the well. It teaches people how to prevent sickness and disease. This is done in many interesting and attractive ways—first of all, by the distribution of popular health literature and through health lectures illustrated with lantern slides or with health motion picture films. Then special exhibits are given, one after the other, on various health subjects. Practical demonstrations are made; also health playlets by children to interest and instruct themselves and their elders. Classes are organized in personal hygiene, home care of the sick, first aid and in food selection and preparation. Health clubs, both for younger and older people, are formed; also Little Mothers' Leagues. Nutrition and growth clinics are conducted for children.

Already more than a hundred of these Red Cross Health Centers are in actual operation throughout the country. Many of them also conduct medical clinics, but the one chief, outstanding feature of the American Red Cross Health Center is its health education service which teaches well people how to keep well.

FRENCH PRAISE FOR OUR RED CROSS WORK

Lauding the work accomplished by American philanthropy for war-stricken France, Andre Tardieu, former high commissioner from that nation to the United States, in a recent article widely commented on throughout the French press, says:

"The American Red Cross has accomplished a work which calls for the heartfelt gratitude of every true Frenchman. In 1918 this great relief organization spent in behalf of France nearly $7,000,000 francs, and in 1919 its expenditures on charitable projects in our country attained the tremendous total of 171,000,000. It has recently turned over to the French relief organizations huge stocks of supplies whose value must be counted in the hundreds of thousands of francs.

"Fifteen million American boys and girls, banded together in the Junior Red Cross of America, are back of a movement to establish the closest ties between themselves and France's younger generation through the charitable works they have financed and are now carrying out among our little war sufferers.

"The bonds of friendship between France and America is cemented with mutual admiration, respect and gratitude."
